

Vocabulary	Meaning
tribe	a group of people – families, clans or generations celts	all of the people who lives in Britain and Northwest Europe during the Iron Age Europe	a continent that contains Britain migrate	to move from one country to another enclosure	a space that is closed in hill fort	an ancient settlement usually on a hill settlement	a community of people living in the same area rampart	a defensive wall round house	a circular building people lived in cauldron	a large cooking pot thatch	to make a roof using dried plant material wattle and daub	a type of wall that was made using sticks with clay and mud crops	plants that are grown as food to eat preserve	to stop something getting old or rotting grind	to crush down into tiny pieces brooch	a jewel that is held on clothes by a pin tunic	a piece of clothing worn without sleeves reaching to the knees

Key knowledge – Keeping areas well protected

This is a rampart – a wall protecting the town

During the Iron Age, people moved into and around Britain.

To keep towns safe, ramparts were created to shield the local people from outsiders.

This wall is strong.

Key knowledge – Where did the Iron Age Celt's live?

This is a round house

The Iron Age Celt's lived in round houses. They were buildings with one room.

In the middle of the room was a cauldron which had a fire underneath for cooking.

History Timeline

600BC

43AD