Annual Safeguarding INSET (Level 1)

September 2025

A reminder:

As ever with safeguarding, you can take time out at any time, with no questions and no judgement

If you're affected by the topics discussed in this session, speak to your line manager or call:

Why safeguarding is so important

Trigger warning: This video contains reference to child-on-child abuse and sexual abuse, which some members of staff might find upsetting.

Today we'll learn about ...

What safeguarding is What safeguarding means for you

What can make some pupils more vulnerable than others

How we can all act in pupils' best interests

The 4 main types of abuse and signs to look out for

How to spot the signs of poor mental health, and support pupils who are struggling

Specific forms of abuse and safeguarding issues you might see in our school

Section 1

What is safeguarding?

Safeguarding means ...

Providing help and support to meet the needs of children as soon as problems emerge

Protecting children from maltreatment within or outside the home, including online

Preventing impairment of children's mental and physical health or development

Making sure children receive safe and effective care

Taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes

Abuse is more common than you may think

We don't know how many children experience abuse, and we may never know.

However, data suggests that:

1 in 20 children in the UK have been sexually abused

1 in 14 children in the UK have been physically abused

1 in 10 children in the UK have experienced neglect

Around a third of child sexual abuse is by other children

Online grooming crimes against children have increased by 89% in 6 years

Our most common safeguarding issues

- Domestic Violence - typically the perpetrator is a male in the home.
- Gang identity – local culture of violence.
- Child sexual and criminal exploitation

And in our local area

- Increase in misogyny – perpetrator is typically a male.
- Extra familial risk and abuse – not limited to: street victimisation, online abuse, safeguarding risks in public places.
- Parental capacity (to support their child)

Section 2

What does safeguarding mean for me?

Changes to Keeping Children Safe in Education and what they mean for you

- Clarification that misinformation, disinformation and conspiracy theories are safeguarding harms
- Filtering and monitoring and the use of AI

Disinformation, misinformation and conspiracy theories

- Disinformation, misinformation and conspiracy theories are online safety risks for children
- They refer to the spread of false information or ‘fake news’ online
- Children can be more at risk of taking this content at face value
- Advanced AI tools can be used to present the information as fact, making it appear realistic, including the use of AI-generated images and videos
- As school staff we all have a role to play to ensure pupils are kept safe online from this risk
- It’s important that we find opportunities to discuss where pupils get their information from, so they understand the risks

Filtering and monitoring and the use of AI

- As a school, our filtering and monitoring procedures also apply to the use of generative AI
- We need to make sure pupils are using gen-AI safely, and should monitor any use of AI in the classroom closely
- It's important that any AI products pupils are using in school have the highest standards of filtering possible
- We also need to make that if we are asking pupils to use AI in lessons, that they're not accessing harmful or inappropriate content
- If you find that pupils are able to access inappropriate content while using an AI tool, report this to the DSL as soon as possible

Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility

Look out for changes in a child

Difficulty concentrating and not doing as well at school

Becoming withdrawn

Mood or behaviour changes

Risk-taking behaviour

Mental health needs

Tiredness

Self-harming

Increased absence from school or lessons

Using drugs or alcohol

Reflection task

- Elijah, a confident and talkative child, has been anxious and quiet, especially since the summer holidays
- Rupal has a group of friends but has recently become increasingly isolated. He usually plays football with his friends at breaktime, but he's been getting into a lot of arguments with them. One argument even turned into a physical fight
- Casey has missed a lot of school and is starting to fall behind. Their mum keeps calling the school to say she's unwell, but it keeps happening and she's missed at least 1 day a week in the last term
- Fabiola has always been a quiet, well-behaved pupil, but recently you've overheard her using more sexualised language with her friends. She's also started wearing make-up to school

Summary: key points about what safeguarding is and what it means for you

- Safeguarding means making sure children grow up safe, happy and healthy
- Always assume 'it could happen here'
- We all have a role to play in safeguarding children
- Be alert to changes in a child
- The safeguarding team is here to listen to any concerns you have

Section 3

Some pupils are more vulnerable than others

Some children are more vulnerable than others

Have a special educational need or disability (SEND), or another health need

Have social, emotional and mental health needs (SEMH)

Are persistently absent from education

Are frequently missing from care or home

Remember: any child can be a victim of abuse, so we need to stay alert to the signs

Are LGBTQ+

Are privately fostered

Have been in care

Have a parent or carer in custody or are affected by parental offending

Some children are more vulnerable than others

Live in challenging family circumstances

Are at risk of abuse linked to faith or belief

Are at risk of radicalisation

Are at risk of modern slavery, trafficking or exploitation

Are misusing drugs or alcohol

Are young carers

Are involved in a gang

Are being drawn into antisocial or criminal behaviour

Are educated at home

Have a family member experiencing poor mental health

Be even more alert to our ...

Children with SEND and SEMH needs

They can be more vulnerable because they might:

- Rely on others more, or be more innocent or trusting
- Find it harder to tell someone about their abuse
- Be less likely to understand their experiences as abuse
- Be more prone to isolation or bullying
- Find it harder to communicate their feelings and emotions

Signs of abuse might also be missed or dismissed.

Many forms of SEND are invisible – this doesn't mean these children are less vulnerable.

Always use professional curiosity: think 'why?' or 'what might be going on here?'

Be even more alert to our ...

Children who are LGBTQ+

They can be more vulnerable because they might:

- Be a more likely target for bullying
- Be at higher risk of homophobic, biphobic or transphobic hate crimes
- Feel different and isolated from their peers
- Not have a trusted adult to talk to about their identity

Pupils who may be perceived to be LGBTQ+ share the same risk factors as those who are

Reflection task

Read the example scenario below.

What factors might make this pupil more at risk of abuse?

Meet Sara. Sara is a pupil in year 4 and has social, emotional and mental health needs (SEMH).

Normally, Sara is chatty and happy in school, but recently she's become more withdrawn. She also hasn't been focusing in lessons as much.

Sara is a looked-after child and has a new carer who she has only known for a few months.

Summary: some pupils are more vulnerable than others

- Remember that all children are vulnerable, but some groups are more vulnerable than others
- Be even more alert to pupils with SEND, SEMH and children who are LGBTQ+ (or perceived to be LGBTQ+)
- Remember, all pupils can be victims of abuse, so we need to stay alert to the signs

Section 4

How we can all act in our pupils' best interests

Let's discuss ...

What are some of the key things to remember when taking a disclosure from a pupil?

Listen to Noah's experience

Trigger warning: This video contains reference to physical abuse and domestic violence, which some members of staff might find upsetting.

If a child makes a disclosure ...

Do ...

Find a calm, quiet space to talk

Let the child lead the conversation

Practise 'active listening'

Ask open questions

Reassure them that they're not in trouble and will be kept safe

Reflect on what they're saying

Be clear about what you'll do next

Ask the child if it's OK for you to take notes, or to write down what they've told you afterwards

If you think a child won't feel comfortable if you're taking notes, try to do this immediately after the conversation instead.

If a child makes a disclosure ...

Don't ...

Give the child the impression they're creating a problem

Blame the child for what's happened, in any way

Ask leading questions that suggest an answer

Make promises about keeping things confidential

Make further investigations yourself

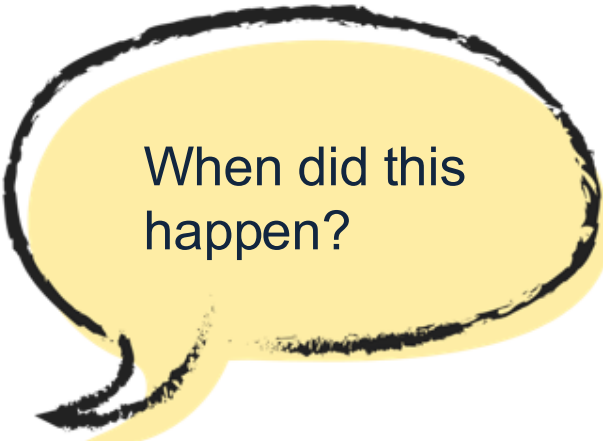

Criticise the alleged perpetrator

Be overly emotional

Things you might say when a child makes a disclosure:

Can you tell me a bit more about that?

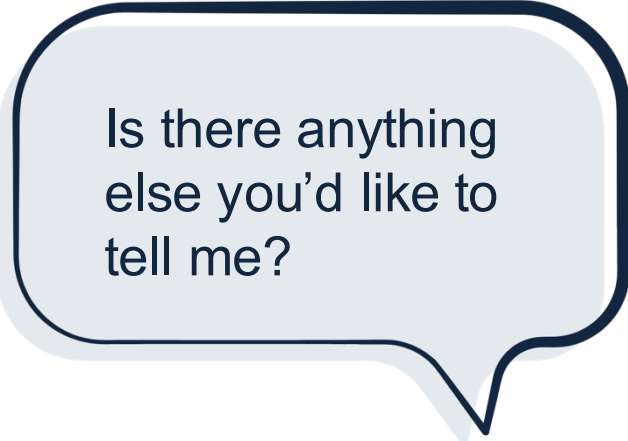

When did this happen?

I'm going to have to tell [DSL], so we can help keep you safe.

I'm so sorry that that's happened to you.

Is there anything else you'd like to tell me?

Children might try to communicate abuse in different ways:

Self-harm

“I don’t want the holidays to start”

Writes stories featuring abusive families

Acting inappropriately for their age

Changes in behaviour

Noah's experience: what can you remember now?

Time for activity: 2 minutes

What to do: write down what you remember about what Noah said in section 1 of your activity pack

Let's discuss ...

- > What would you include in a safeguarding report?
- > What would you focus on?

Can you spot a 'good' safeguarding report?

Report 1

Network

100%

Date: 8 September 2025

Time: 1.30pm

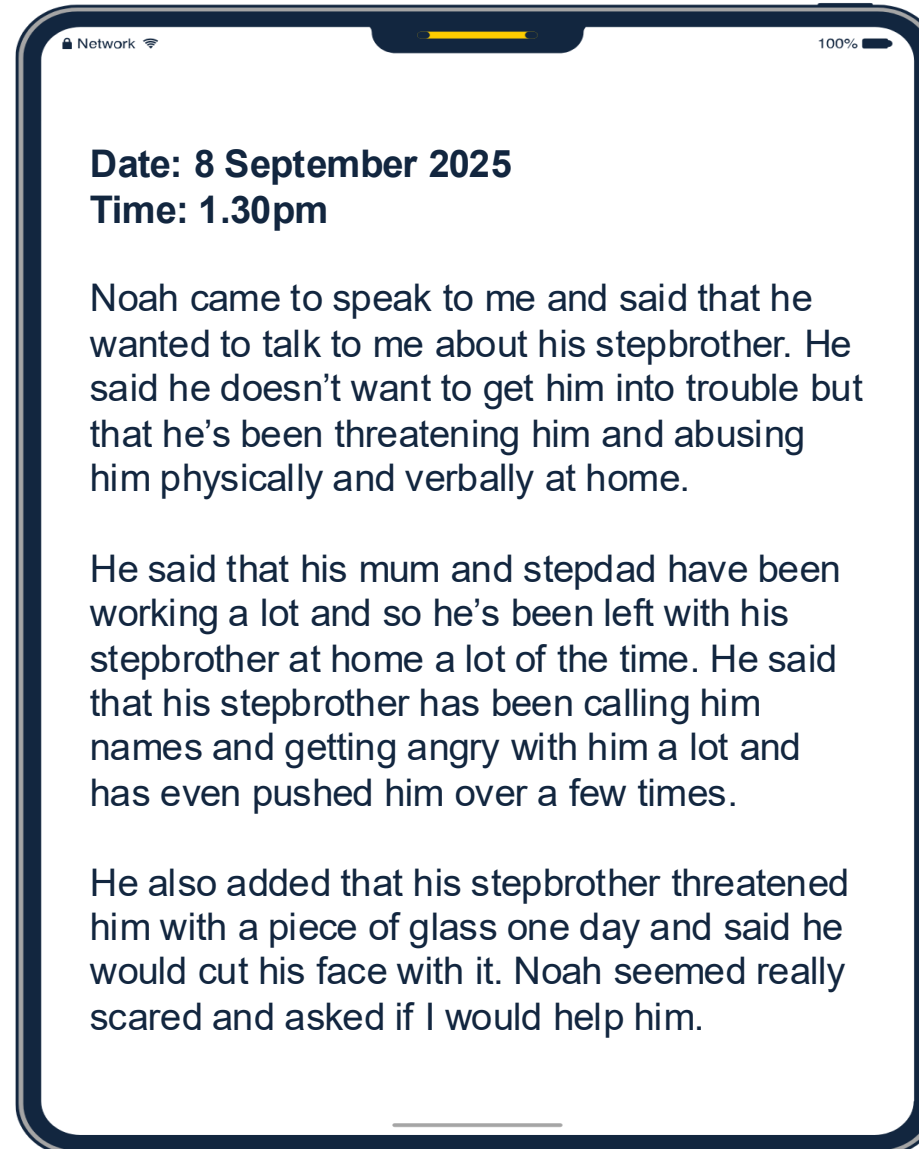

Noah came to speak to me in the classroom at lunchtime and said that he wanted to talk to me about his stepbrother, Ash. He said he doesn't want him to get into trouble, but he wants him to "stop being horrible" to him.

He said that his stepbrother calls him a "stupid kid". He also said that his mum and stepdad are working a lot at the moment, so he is left on his own with his stepbrother.

Noah told me that his stepbrother had shoved him out of the way and gets really angry and breaks things. He then said that his stepbrother has hit him a few times and that it's "getting worse". He said the other day he accidentally broke a glass when he was washing up and his stepbrother threatened him with the broken glass and said he was going to slash his face with it. He asked me to help him and seemed very scared.

Can you spot a 'good' safeguarding report?

How to write a robust safeguarding report every time

- ✓ Think who, what, where and when
- ✓ Include as much detail as possible, including the child's own words
- ✓ Stick to the facts
- ✓ Make the report as soon as possible

At home, over the last few weeks.

Noah's brother called him a "stupid kid" and threatened him with some glass.

Noah said his stepbrother has shoved him a few times and threatened him with some glass.

Date: 8 September 2025
Time: 1.30pm

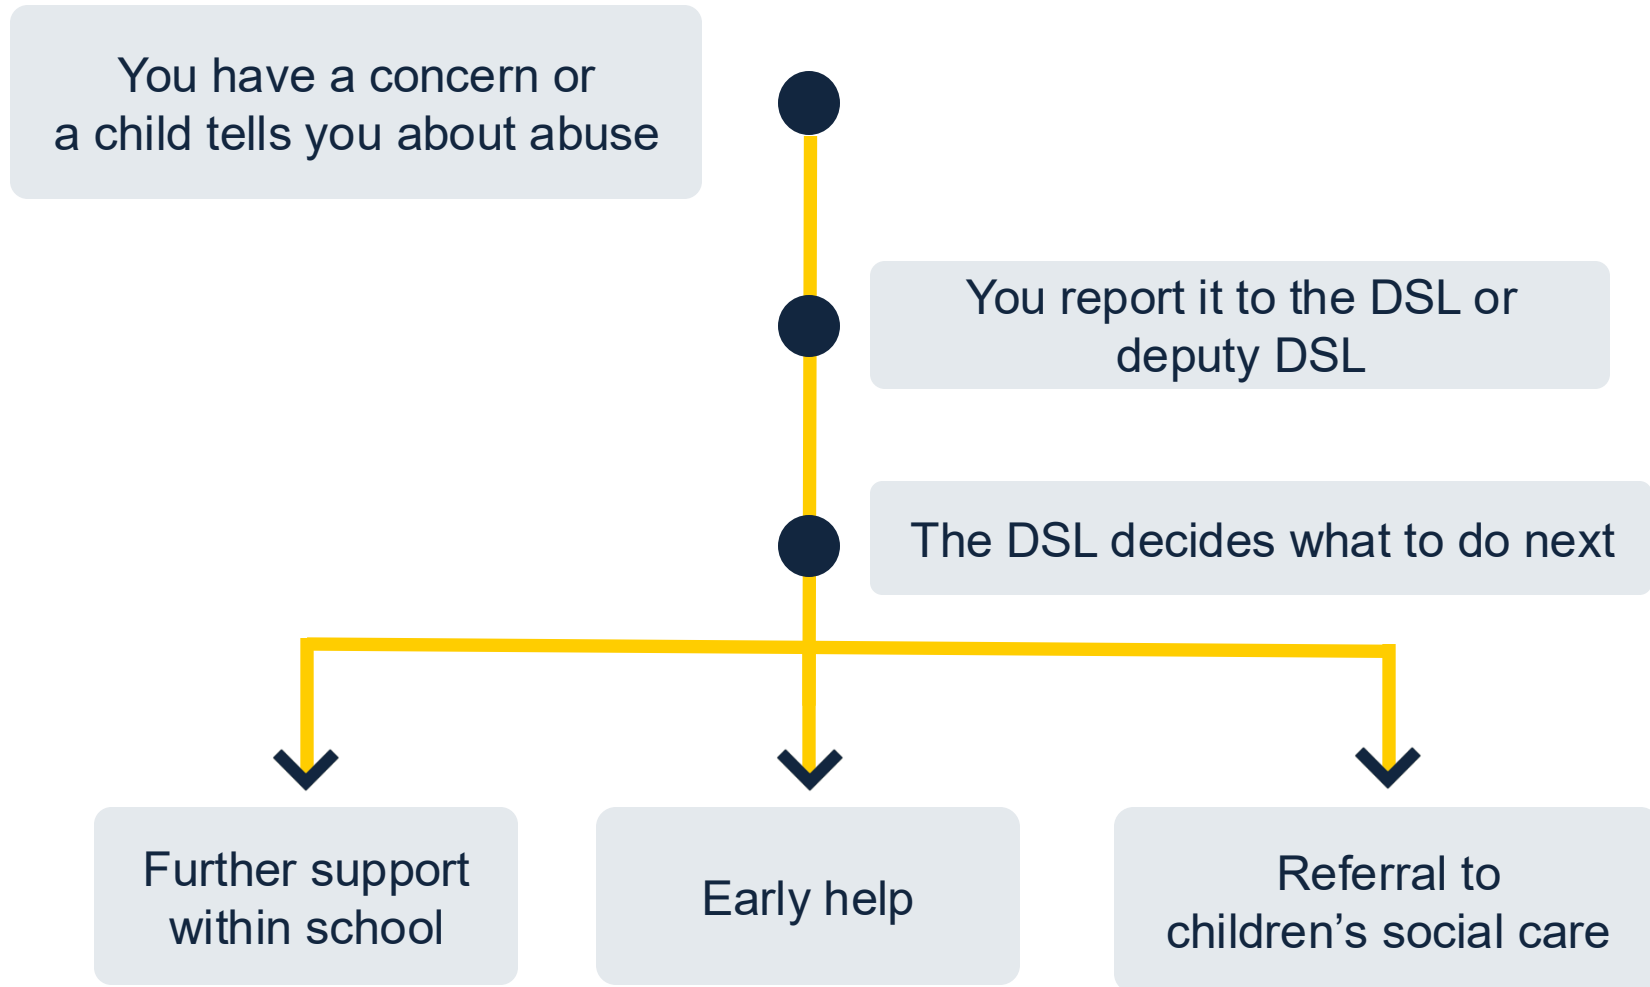

Record keeping

Records should include:

- A clear and comprehensive summary of the concern
- Details of how the concern was followed up and resolved
- A note of any action taken, decisions reached and the outcome

What happens after you make a report

If the child is in immediate danger and the DSL/deputy DSL isn't available:

- Make a referral to Southampton CRS
- Call the police if appropriate

Share any concerns about other members of staff

If you have concerns about ...	Speak to ...	How ...
A member of staff	Headteacher	SLT office head@
A volunteer	Headteacher
The headteacher	Chair of governors	chair@

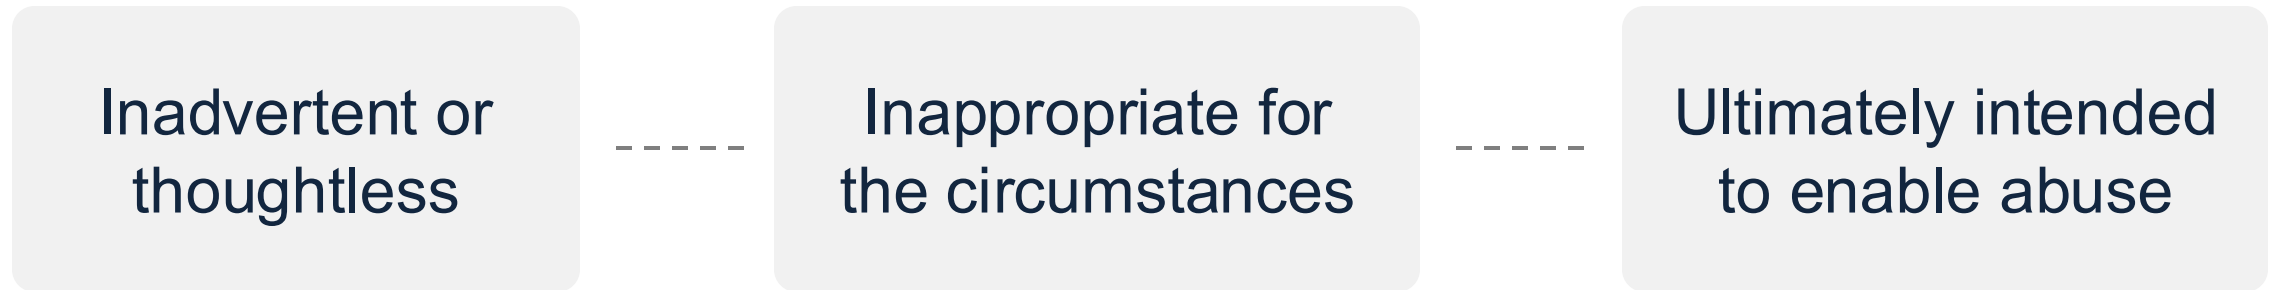

If there's a conflict of interest in reporting to the headteacher, go to the LADO

Remember: think the unthinkable

Act on 'nagging doubts', too

Low-level concerns include behaviour that's:

See Employee Handbook

Low-level concern: yes or no?

Working 1-to-1 with a pupil in a private room with a closed door Yes

Allowing a pupil to connect with them on social media Yes

Chatting to a group of pupils about their hobbies at lunchtime No

Failing to report pupils trying to access inappropriate websites Yes

Allowing pupils to work in a classroom without adult supervision Yes

Key points about how we can all act in our pupils' best interests

- Take a child seriously if they tell you about abuse they've experienced
- Reassure them they'll be kept safe
- Be alert to children trying to communicate abuse in other, more indirect ways
- Always report any concern you have – no matter how small – immediately
- A good report:
 - Includes much detail as possible about what happened, when and where
 - Uses the child's own words, as far as possible

Section 5

The 4 main types of abuse and signs to look out for

Let's discuss ...

What do we mean by 'abuse'?

- What would you define it as?
- Where can abuse take place?

Let's take a look ...

- Abuse is a form of maltreatment of a child, where someone inflicts harm on a child, or fails to act to prevent harm
- 'Harm' can include ill treatment that isn't physical, as well as the impact of witnessing the ill treatment of others
- Children can be at risk of abuse in situations both outside and within their families
- It can happen online and offline

Physical abuse

Neglect

Sexual abuse

Emotional abuse

This is Ade ...

- He often comes into school with dirty clothes that smell and look unwashed
- He's missed quite a few days of school recently
- He has 3 younger siblings, who he talks about looking after at home
- Recently, he seems tired and when you ask him if he's OK, he says he hasn't had any breakfast that day
- You ask him what he's doing on the weekend, and he says he's looking after his siblings, as his mum will be at work

Neglect: what to look out for Severe and persistent illnesses and infections

Missing school, or consistently being collected late

Being a carer for siblings or other family members

Signs of malnutrition

Not having appropriate clothes, shoes or equipment for school

Affluent neglect

Poor medical and dental care

Being hungry, stealing or hiding food

Issues with hygiene – regular cases of head lice, long fingernails, dirty skin

Neglect and material poverty

- More than 1 in 4 children are living in poverty
- Families are still struggling to afford food, heating and electricity
- Poverty can cause children's mental and physical health to worsen, and they are more likely to be exposed to crime and violence

Poverty and financial hardship are not the same as neglect – but they do increase the risk of experiencing neglect

Lots of children have odd bumps and bruises, so it can be tricky to tell when something is wrong.

One day in PE, I noticed Adam had some large bruises on his arms and one on his face. When I asked him about them, he said he got the bruises from playfighting with his brother.

The bruises seemed quite big, so I reported it to my DSL anyway.”

Physical abuse: what to look out for Bruises, cuts,

scratches or scars

Fractures

Bite marks

Burns or scalds

Vomiting, drowsiness or seizures

Breathing problems

Suspicious illnesses

This is Amara ...

- Recently, Amara has had some emotional outbursts at school, including an argument with her group of friends
- During the argument, Amara used swear words and other language that wasn't appropriate for her age
- Amara has also been confrontational with a member of staff at school
- When you call home to talk about Amara's behaviour with her mum, you hear Amara's mum shouting and swearing at her when she tells her off

Emotional abuse: what to look out for

Behaviour, language or knowledge you wouldn't expect for their age

Low self-esteem or self-confidence

Language delay

Negative interactions with parents or carers

Lacking social skills or friends

Struggling to control their emotions, such as having outbursts

Trying to make people dislike them, or bullying other children

Issues with mental health

This is Emilia ...

- You've overheard Emilia using sexual language with her friends and talking about wanting to "look sexy"
- She's had her phone confiscated recently, and seemed nervous and anxious about getting it back
- She's come into school with a new school bag and has a new pair of expensive trainers for PE
- When you ask her about her new bag and trainers, she says they were a gift from her mum's friend

Sexual abuse: what to look out for

Changes in behaviour

Avoiding a particular person

Sexually inappropriate behaviour

Difficulty concentrating at school

Needing the toilet a lot

Difficulty sitting

Dropping hints or mentioning 'secrets'

Pregnancy and STIs

Secretive online behaviour

Remember: abuse happens online, too

Social media (e.g. Snapchat, TikTok)

Online chatrooms

Online gaming

AI (e.g. text-to-image systems)

Texts and messaging apps (e.g. WhatsApp)

Email

Streaming sites (e.g. Twitch)

Emotional abuse online

Being excluded from online games

Cyber-bullying

Being made fun of on social media (e.g. fake accounts, hurtful videos)

Receiving constant messages from parents or carers while at school

Sexual abuse online

Being forced to make or look at indecent images

Being forced to take part in sexual activity to be put online

Grooming

AI-generated sexual abuse imagery

'Sextortion'

Look out for ...

Spending more time online or offline

More emotional responses to being online

Signs of sexual abuse

Unsupervised times on devices

Being secretive about their phone or what they do online

Let's put it into practice

Time for activity: 5 minutes

What to do:

- Read your group's scenario (in section 3 of your activity pack)
- Discuss whether there are signs of abuse and, if so, what kind
- Write down your thoughts in section 2 of your activity pack
- If you have time, look at the other scenario too

Let's put it into practice

Jannik:
Signs of emotional and physical abuse

Sofi:
Signs of neglect

We can all spot possible signs of abuse. You should always report these

Key points about the 4 main types of abuse

- The 4 main types of abuse are neglect, physical, emotional and sexual
- In most cases, multiple issues will overlap with each other
- Abuse also takes place online, in multiple different ways, with new platforms and tools (such as AI) being used
- The crucial thing is to be able to spot that something might be wrong – and act on it by reporting your concerns

Section 6

How to spot the signs of poor mental health and support pupils who are struggling

Why pupil mental health matters

Video

Trigger warning: this video contains reference to mental health conditions and self-harm, which some people might find upsetting.

What is mental health?

- > Everyone has mental health, just like we all have physical health
- > Mental health is a state of mental wellbeing that lets people:

Cope with the stresses of life

Realise their abilities

Learn well and work well

Contribute to their communities

Mental health is everyone's responsibility

- We all have a responsibility to safeguard children, as explained in KCSIE. This includes:
 - Preventing impairment of children's mental and physical health or development
 - Taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes
- The quicker we spot the signs of poor mental health, and then act on them, the quicker pupils can get the help and support they need

Signs that a child might be struggling

Excessive fears and worries

Being hyperactive

Changes in sleep habits

Emotional changes

Decline in school attendance, performance or behaviour

Loss of interest in friends or favourite activities

Loss of appetite and weight changes

Being withdrawn

Being angry or irritable

Physical changes, such as feeling sick, sweating or shaking

Self-harm

Michael's story

Time for activity: 4 minutes

What to do: read Michael's story (in section 4 of your activity pack) and answer the questions:

1. What are some of the signs Michael might be struggling with his mental health?
2. What should you do now?

Michael's story

Signs Michael might be struggling with his mental health:

- He seems withdrawn
- He has cut marks on his arms
- He's lost weight over a short period of time
- He looks very tired
- He says he feels sad "all the time"

Michael's story

What should you do now?

- If you know Michael well, you can find a quiet space to talk to him about the marks on his arms and how he's feeling
- Reassure Michael that you're going to talk to someone at school, so he can get the help he needs
- Report the cut marks immediately
- If a child is in immediate danger, stay with them and report immediately
- If a DSL is not available and a child is in immediate danger, you can make a referral to CAMHS, the child's GP or call 999 if appropriate

Remember: some signs might not be linked to mental health and might be signs of abuse. The most important thing is to report any signs as soon as possible.

Key points about pupil mental health

- Supporting pupil mental health is everyone's responsibility, as part of our safeguarding duties outlined in KCSIE
- The quicker we report a concern the quicker pupils can get the right support
- Always report concerns
- If a child is in immediate danger, stay with the child
- If the DSL/deputy DSL isn't available, you can make a referral to CAMHS, the child's GP or call 999 if appropriate

Section 7

Specific forms of abuse and safeguarding issues you might see in our school

Missing school can be a vital warning sign of a safeguarding issue

Our unauthorised absence procedures are:

- Attendance Officers will call home to seek to understand the absence.
- If we cannot get through, a home visit will be initiated.

Our children who are absent from education procedures are:

- An appointed contact from SLT.
- A weekly check in – including online if applicable
- Discussion with parents over home visits (eyes on the child)

There's no 1 path to radicalisation, or 1 type of person who can be radicalised

Understand who might be susceptible

Look out for changes in behaviour, mood or appearance

Know where and how to report concerns

Issues which affect our school/local area are:

- Fanatical and misinformed discussions of recent media news that create disinformation.

➤ Female genital mutilation (FGM)

- FGM involves the deliberate partial or total removal of female genitals for non-medical reasons
- It is a criminal offence in the UK and a form of child abuse
- FGM is typically carried out on girls aged between the ages of 0 and 15, often during school holidays to allow time for to heal

Teachers have a legal duty to report FGM

For known cases of FGM, teachers must:

- Call 101
- Say you're making a report under the FGM mandatory reporting duty
- Have our DSL's contact details and the girl's age and address to hand, as well as your contact information
- Take note of the reference number you're given

Remember: girls might use terms like 'cut' to tell you what's happened

FGM

Signs a child might be at risk:

Requests for extended holidays

Talking about a special ceremony or trip abroad

Mentioning 'becoming a woman' or a secret procedure

Signs that FGM may have already taken place:

Changes in behaviour

Obvious discomfort

Reluctance to go to the toilet

This is Amina ...

Amina is a bright, sociable and well-behaved child who has attended your school since reception, and lives with her parents and younger siblings. In the summer term, Amina talks about an overseas trip she's going on, in the school holidays. She tells her classmates and teacher:

- “We're going to visit my grandmother for a big celebration”
- “I'm going to be away for a few weeks. This trip is just for girls and Mum says I'll be a 'proper woman' when I get back”
- “Mum said I need to be brave, but it'll be worth it”
- Amina also requested to miss swimming lessons for the rest of the term. When you ask why, she says: “Mum says I shouldn't be doing that before our trip”

Amina has also become quieter in class. She appears anxious when talking about the trip and you hear her asking her friend if injections hurt. During art, she drew a picture of a plane and a sad-looking girl with the word 'brave' next to it.

More safeguarding issues you should be aware of Child abduction and community safety incidents

Children and the court system

Children missing from home or care

Drugs

Fabricated or induced illness

Faith-based abuse

Homelessness

Honour-based abuse

Modern slavery

Children with a parent or carer in custody or prison

Forced marriage

Private fostering

Online grooming: what to look out for ...

Unexplained gifts, or having more money than usual

Spending less time with friends

Spending more or less time online than usual

Signs of sexual abuse

Being secretive about their devices, or what they do online

“He was really nice to me when no one else was. I thought he was my friend ... I didn’t think I needed to tell anyone because I didn’t think he was doing anything wrong, at first anyway.

“I didn’t tell anyone because I thought I’d get in trouble. He said no one would believe me, and I didn’t want my mum to be angry with me.”

➤ Misinformation online and toxic masculinity

Be alert to key vocabulary, including:

Incel

80/20 rule

Red pill/redpilled

Chad and Stacey

Pickup artists
(PUA)

100

What signs of radicalisation should I be alert to?

- Becoming more isolated from friends and family
- Not being willing or able to talk about their views
- Becoming more angry
- Talking as if from a script, or using new phrases
- A sudden disrespectful attitude towards women and girls
- Being more secretive, especially about their internet use

Artificial intelligence (AI): concerns to be aware of

Hacking and scams

AI-generated child sexual abuse images

'Deepfake' pornography

'Catfishing' and sextortion

Fake news and misinformation

Relationships with chatbots

Deepfake images and videos

Can be used for bullying, pranks or spreading misinformation

Can convincingly imitate the faces, movements and voices of 'real' people

Children may encounter or share deepfakes without realising they're fake

Are easy to create and share via the use of apps and websites

> Sextortion

What is it?

Sextortion is a form of online blackmail where someone threatens to share sexual images or information unless the victim complies with their demands.

It might begin with grooming, where an offender has built up a relationship of trust with the victim first.

I don't really know why, but I sent some pictures of myself to this man online ... Looking back it seems obvious, but at the time I felt I had to. He then said I had to buy him all these online gift cards, or he'd share the photos. I had no clue what to do.”

Sextortion: what are the warning signs?

Sudden changes in mood

Excessive secrecy about online activity

Signs of being distracted, upset or afraid after being online

Report concerns to [insert name of DSL/deputy DSL here]

> Child-on-child abuse

Child-on-child abuse is abuse between children.

It can happen in and outside of school, and online.

Child-on-child abuse can include:

Bullying

Abuse in intimate personal relationships

Physical abuse

Sexual violence

Sexual harassment

Sexual activity without consent

Upskirting

Sharing nudes or semi-nude images

Initiating or hazing-type violence and rituals

Gender violence

Where a child shows harmful sexual behaviours towards another child, it could be a sign that they themselves have been abused and need support, too.

Child-on-child abuse

Act immediately on any concerns or disclosures

Reassure the child they'll be supported and kept safe

Don't dismiss or downplay any reports

Callum has been seen hanging around with a group of new, older friends.

He:

- Seems more anxious and worried at school
- Misses school more
- Struggles more at school than he used to
- Shows signs of self-harm
- Has unexplained injuries

> Child criminal exploitation (CCE)

What is it?

Child criminal exploitation (CCE) is a form of abuse where a child is coerced, manipulated or deceived into taking part in criminal activity.

It's often linked with serious violence, such as knife or gun crime. The exploitation could be:

- > In exchange for something the child needs or wants (like money)
- > For the financial gain of the perpetrator(s)
- > Through violence, or the threat of violence, to children or their families

County lines: in more detail

What is it?

A form of criminal exploitation where children are coerced and forced into moving, storing and selling drugs and drug money

Who is involved?

Children are groomed in person or online (for example, through social media gang 'influencers') and then threatened into staying

Signs to look out for

- Going missing and being found in areas away from their home
- A decline in school attendance, results or performance
- Signs of unexplained wealth such as new clothes or devices
- Receiving lots of texts, phone calls or having a 'burner phone' – these are often older phones with unregistered SIM cards
- Spending time with older children or groups

> Eating disorders

What are eating disorders?

- > Eating disorders can be serious mental health conditions
- > They're characterised by disturbances in behaviours, thoughts and feelings around body weight, appetite and/or food
- > It takes an expert to decide whether somebody meets the diagnostic criteria for an eating disorder
- > There are different types of eating disorders, and they don't all manifest in the same way, but there are some common factors

Different types of eating disorders

Anorexia
nervosa

Bulimia
nervosa

Avoidant/restrictive food intake disorder
(ARFID)

Binge-eating disorder

Pica

Other specified feeding or eating disorder
(OSFED)

Signs that a pupil may have some form of disordered eating:

Changes in weight

Changes in eating habits

Exercising more

Lying about their eating or weight

Absence from school or lessons

General changes in behaviour

Refusing to change their clothes in front of others

Wearing loose-fitting clothes

Going to the toilet a lot after eating

Let's put this into practice

Meet Emil ...

- Emil is a pupil in your school. He's 11
- He plays football a lot, in and outside of school
- It looks like he's lost some weight, but he doesn't look unhealthy
- For the past week or so, he's been late to class after lunch. He blames it on football practice

Do you think there are signs for concern?

Take a few minutes to discuss this in smalls group and jot down any concerns you may have.

Report your concerns

You should always report any concerns you have, even if you're not sure what the problem is.

Spotting any of the signs we've just discussed doesn't mean a pupil has a potential eating disorder.

But, it's important you still report your concerns and any signs you notice, so that children can get help early if they need it.

This is especially important with eating disorders, as the child may be much sicker than they appear.
